

“Endowed by Their Creator”

*A Collection of Historic American Military Prayers
1774-Present*

“Endowed by Their Creator” is a collection of historic prayers drawn from 74 military prayer books spanning the years and wars from 1774 to present. The collection includes prayers written and recited by presidents, military heroes and others, and can be prayed today, privately or publicly. It demonstrates the “military necessity” of Christian prayer and provides a history of the pleading for the favor of Almighty God over the United States of America for over 230 years.

Today when prayer is often treated like a ceremonial formality, this historic collection presents prayer as both edifying and educational to those in the military and civilian worlds, no matter their rank, station or denomination. America and her fighting forces must not lose touch with the significance of our nation’s “Creator” as named in the Declaration of Independence, and His broad and great endowments for our Republic, “One Nation Under God.”

This collection is presented chronologically to document the history of prayer in our Armed Forces, to support America’s Biblical foundations, as a reference tool with prayers identified by subject, and as a legal and historic context for continued leader-led prayer in our Armed Forces and in our country. With these battle-tested, historical prayers, we hope that this book will provide guidance, comfort, and confidence for our citizens and for all who serve to protect “One Nation Under God”.

“I look upon the spiritual life of the soldier as even more important than his physical equipment. The soldier’s heart, the soldier’s spirit, the soldier’s soul sustains him; if not he cannot be relied upon and he will fail himself, his commander, and his country in the end. It’s morale and I mean spiritual morale, which wins the victory ultimately. And that type of morale can only come out of a soldier who knows God and who has the spirit of religious fervor in his soul.” - General George C. Marshall
